

Chaim Gross in his New York studio. It is evident from the extreme hardness of the wood he works that he is as hardworking as his material, and that he is persevering; also that he is sure of himself. It is not easy to cut material like lignum vitae or ebony